Ranger 9 Speeds On Way To Moon

By EDWARD O'CONNOR
United Press International

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Scientists today decided to delay for 24 hours until Tuesday morning a planned mid-course maneuver to put America's ninth and last Ranger spacecraft on a more perfect path to the moon.

The decision to delay the delicate maneuver until about 6:00 a.m. PST Tuesday, EST, was made by scientists at the California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory JPL because the space probe already was on a near-bulleye course.

The scientists made their decision during a pre-dawn study of telemetry data from the spacecraft.

This happens each year during the Easter Seal Sale when the local committee is flooded with contributions from people all over the county.

Needless to say people get requests for money in the mail all the time, nearly all of them worthy causes. Naturally you can't give to everything.

But enough to give to the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children to make it go and many children all over the state receive help and a boost toward a more normal life. Calloway County children get their share of help.

Another candidate for County Judge we hear will be Robert Young.

Local People On TV Show Tomorrow

The Calloway County Council on Alcoholism, and the Civitan and Citizens Council on Alcoholism, Tennessee, urge all citizens to see the program on alcoholism to be shown on Channel 6, WPSD, Paducah, at 10:11 p.m. on Tuesday, March 23.

Panelists for the program: Reverend Martin Mattingly, Past-President of the Calloway County Council on Alcoholism; J. L. Porter, President of the Civitan and Citizens Council on Alcoholism, Paris, Tennessee; and Dr. H. C. Sargent, McCracken County Health Department, Paducah; Dr. H. W. Conner of Western State Hospital who was originally scheduled for the program will be unable to appear.

This program, officials say, is a part of a growing effort to inform the public as to the nature and extent of the problem of alcoholism, and is in keeping with the three basic concepts which have been adopted by both the Calloway County Council and the Civitan and Citizens Council, namely, a) the alcoholism is an illness and the alcoholic is a sick person, b) that the alcoholic is worth helping and can be helped, c) alcoholism is a public health problem and the community has a responsibility to look for a solution.

Indicative of the growing concern of local citizens is the organization of local groups, which includes the Council at Murray, Paris, Tennessee, and Benton, Ind. These groups are presently being taken looking toward local programs for Paducah, Princeton, and Mayfield.

Joe Lapchick To Bow Out Of Basketball

By FRED McMANE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Few men really have the opportunity to bow out of a sport the way they lived the game, but Joe Lapchick was one of the fortunate ones.

During his 20 years as head basketball coach of St. John's University and nine seasons as chief mentor of the New York Knickerbockers, the name of the game was always "Lapchick" to Coach Lapchick. Probably the greatest tribute to this teaching occurred Saturday when his St. John's team defeated Villanova 55-51 to capture the National Invitation Tournament.

This was the fourth NIT title for the Redmen under Lapchick but in his 20 years at the university, no team exhibited more desire than this one.

Gets Squad Up

It was Lapchick who brought out this desire. Few men in basketball history are as skilled at getting a team up for a game as Lapchick, and he made the Redmen want to win the NIT just like he psyched them up to defeat Michigan and capture last December's Holiday Festival.

On a strict man-for-man basis, St. John's wasn't the best team in the tournament. After their victory in the Holiday Festival, the Johnnies were a floundering club until the start of the NIT. They finished the regular season only 17-8 and were unseeded in the tourney.

However, the NIT was like a shot of pep to the Redmen. Sonny Doye, a sophomore sensation who hadn't played a good game since the Holiday Festival, and Kenny McIntyre, a senior basketball man who experienced hot and cold shooting spells, suddenly went berserk. McIntyre, a strong Boston College player in the opening round and the Redmen routed the Eagles 114-82. Doye scored 28 points and cleared both backboards while McIntyre tossed in 12 points.

Provides Momentum

That opening victory provided the Redmen with all the necessary momentum. They took second-seeded New Mexico 91-54 in the quarter-finals and damped Army 67-49 in the semi.

Villanova was a slight favorite to take the final game, but the Johnnies wanted this one for Lapchick, McIntyre and Doye got the Redmen rolling in the first half and St. John's held a 36-26 lead at intermission. The Redmen got a big break in the second half when Wildcat scoring star Bill Melchikoff became ill with a virus, but despite Melchikoff's absence Villanova managed to get within two points of the Redmen.

It was Bob McIntyre who finally took over in the clutch for St. John's as he tallied eight of his team's last 10 points and grabbed key rebounds in the final six minutes. It was a good thing St. John's had Bobby around because the team managed to score only two points in the final six minutes of play, but McIntyre's rebound kept the Wildcats from overtaking the Redmen. ## Bearcats State Champions; Welcomed Home

HARDINSBURG, Ky. (UPI) — The Breckinridge County Bearcats made their last basketball game one to remember—and a 5 1/2-mile motorcade proved that it will be the talk of this community for some time.

Breckinridge County won the Kentucky High School Basketball Tournament in Louisville Saturday night with a 90-73 victory over Covington Holy Cross.

It was the last game for the Bearcats. There will be no such team next year. Breck County is the basketball capital of Kentucky and Player of the Year Butch Beard is its king.

The team was met about seven miles out of town by the local motorcade and brought to the high school gym for welcome ceremonies.

Dr. James G. Sills, president of the Breck County Athletic Boosters Club said he thought the high point of the tournament was the Bearcats' come-from-behind win over Hazard in the semifinals.

Sills introduced each player and each player received a thunderous ovation. When he introduced Beard the crowd almost lifted the roof off the gym.

He called Beard "a legend in Kentucky and in the nation."

Captain Don Morris said the Bearcats won because "they are a quality group" not a one-man team.

Also on hand was Western Kentucky coach John Oldham and two assistants. Western is making a determined bid to recruit Beard—but so is just about every other college in Kentucky.

Oldham told the gathering there are 300 schools in Kentucky with basketball players but the son of Villanova shared game scoring honors with 18 points and Kenny, who tallied 10 points in the tournament, was voted the NIT's most valuable player.

Was It True?

Dear Abby . . .

DEAR ABBY: I went steady with a guy for four months, and everything was going along fine until my girl friend told me that he was making a big play for another girl. I asked him about it, and he denied it, but we had a big fight over it anyway. Then my girl friend told me she heard that he was throwing darts at my picture. Before I knew what was coming off, she had his picture torn in bits in an envelope and on his front porch. He thought I did it. In a way I was glad, because he tried to show the world that he could hurt me, so I wanted to show him I could hurt him. My girl friend told me to ignore him, but it wasn't easy when I saw him circling the block three times to see if I was home. I was, but I didn't come out. Should I stay mad at him? Or should I make up with a guy who did what he did?

DEAR STILL: What did he do? You found him guilty on hearsay evidence. And then you permitted your girl to act for you. This girl "friend" (7) seems to be running your life. Why don't you use your own judgment and make your own decisions? You couldn't do worse. STILL LIKES HIM

DEAR ABBY: When I go to weddings and funerals everyone else is in tears, but I remain dry-eyed. But when I see a sad movie, I cry like a baby. I have never been able to show my emotions in public, and because of this I am sure many people think I am hard and insensitive. Do you think I need to see a psychiatrist? Or is this normal?

DEAR CRY-BABY: It is not uncommon for people to suppress their emotions in public. But if you shed tears easily in private, I can't see where you have any problem. Don't let it bother you.

There are many highly emotional people who would envy your control.

DEAR ABBY: During a discussion in our office, it was unanimously agreed that you were just the right person to settle a very perturbing question for us.

At what age does one start addressing a young man as "Master" and commence to address him as "Mr.?"

Very truly yours,
P. J. D.
DEAR P. J. D.: In addressing a letter (or gift) to a young man, use "Master" until the end of his twelfth year. While he is in his "teens," on his cards and mail addressed to him, he is just plain "John Jones." When he is out of his "teens"—call him Mister! P. S. A girl, however, receives the dignity of the title "Miss" from the cradle to the altar.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WORRIED SICK IN JACKSONVILLE: Stop worrying. No one can obtain information from the Veteran's administration concerning a veteran's discharge without a court order subpoenaing the records. The Veteran's administration office will not even send medical records of information to the veteran's own doctor unless the veteran signs a release.

French Woman Rules Nest

By GAY FAULEY

UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (UPI) — "The French woman is perfect with men — and perfectly beastly with other women."

Thus does Olivia de Havilland, wife of a Frenchman, describe the basic character as she reads it of the women of her adopted country and why the French have a reputation for charming the opposite sex.

Said Miss de Havilland, "The Frenchman's family life and home are the most important part of his life."

"The French woman is queen because she runs a kingdom for the king — her husband."

The actress, wife of Pierre Galante, an executive editor of Paris Match, cited the differing approaches of the American woman and her French counterpart by saying:

"If the American couple is dining out, the wife will say forthrightly and specifically where they will go."

"The French woman will know definitely where she'd prefer to dine. But she suggests one restaurant she actually dislikes, and the husband will say no. Then she mentions another she doesn't like and again he will say no. Then she mentions a third, which she preferred in the first place, and by this time he is feeling so guilty he will acquiesce."

"The Frenchman was born protesting and dies protesting."

Miss de Havilland, of English heritage but reared in the United States, has lived in Paris since her marriage to Galante in 1956. Her book, "Every Frenchman Has One," recounts some of her experiences as an American wife in the French capital.

In an interview here, the award-winning Miss de Havilland commented that life in France is more complicated day to day than life in the United States. Although the French home now has many labor savers.

"But to operate an American-made washing machine," she said, "I had to figure out the instructions in French, and then get them translated into Spanish for a servant not yet familiar with French."

Miss de Havilland was born in Tokyo, the daughter of an international patent attorney.

THE BEAD INTEREST

It might well be the renewed interest in the Art Nouveau period, or maybe it's the focus on the frankly opulent post-World War II. Whatever the cause, the decorating world is currently glittering with beaded, bangles and beads. Beads, especially, show up with increasing frequency. No longer are they just far-out treatments-in-store display rooms and windows. They are flicking in homes as color-bright curtains and even room-dividers.

The accessories in your home always attract special interest. Our new selection of beads is worth your inspection. We have many original designs.
